TO THE PUBLIC.

THE Editor tenders his thanks to those Citizens who have patronized this Directory, and assures them that every exertion has been made to render it complete.

The Directory commences with the "Annual Advertiser," and the arrangement of the names is very much improved. The reader is requested to make himself acquainted with "Directions to the Reader," as soon as possible, as it will make every part clearly understood. A complete list of streets, &c. and public places follow the names.

The additional matter, after the names, consists of the Constitutions of the United States and Pennsylvania—Members of Congress—Government of the United States and Pennsylvania—Ministers and Consuls—Post Office Establishment—Courts of the United States and Pennsylvania—and a List of Public Institutions and Societies, alphabetically arranged, besides a variety of other useful information, particularized in the "List of Contents."

Notwithstanding all the attention given to this Directory, some errors no doubt exist; for which the clemency of the public is solicited. Every well informed person must be impressed with the impossibility of bringing forward a work of this kind entirely free of errors. The taking of the names was commenced in August, 1822, and it is hoped no person who may have changed his residence since that date, without giving notice thereof to the Editor, will censure him, as communications appeared in different Newspapers requesting such to send him their addresses for correction, the frequency of removals rendering it impossible for the Editor, without such notice, to make a correct return.

The mammoth task of taking all the names of families and persons in business, residing in the City and Liberties of Philadelphia, requires a deal of perseverance and ingenuity to obtain the necessary information; as some persons entirely refuse to answer our queries, others must be waited upon at some suitable hour, some houses are closed, many surnames of different orthography sounding alike, and the information obtained being often vague and incorrect. Many cannot spell their names; some cannot speak English; a number are so fearful of being found that they give wrong names, thinking us collectors of taxes or militia fines, while others, in reply to our questions, tell us to "find out by our learning." Much of the information to be had from servants only, with other difficulties, to say nothing of the expense before the receipt of a dollar on account of the book. Some persons complain of the price, but when they are informed that the price of the New York Directory, containing much less matter, is considerably higher, it is hoped there will be no further complaint—to those who think we are not paid enough we tender our thanks.

If no Directory was published for two years, there would be no calculating the value of time lost in searching out the residence of individuals, which we hope will be obviated by the present publication.

If the Editor is sufficiently encouraged, he will repeat the publication of the Directory annually; and as by experience, it is now reduced to a certainty, Philadelphia cannot support a competition in this business, he thinks it not unreasonable respectfully to solicit his fellow citizens for their undivided patronage so long as he gives satisfaction, which he will endeavour to do. He makes this seemingly unreasonable request, as a divided patronage would probably oblige him to relinquish his intention to continue the work.

The Editor also begs leave to apologise for the late appearance of the Directory for the present year, arising from circumstances not within his control; he intends that it shall in future appear in January of each year.

ROMAN CEMENT,

MANUFACTURED BY

GRIEVE, GRELLIER, & MORGAN,

MILL WALL, POPLAR, LONDON;

Warranted genuine and unadulterated as originally and first imported by Slater & Co. to Philadelphia, in 1818.

The Roman Cement is impenetrable to Water, or any moisture, and is decidedly the best article hitherto discovered for the composition of Stucco, and the embellishment of the exterior of Buildings, as it not only will resist the weather in the most exposed situations, but become as hard, handsome, and durable as Portland Stone.

Walls in damp situations, and arches of vaults covered with this Cement, will effectually exclude Water, or any other moisture. For the building of Tanks, Cisterns, Vats, &c. &c. it is unequalled, and is an admirable composition, used as Mortar, in setting Brick or Stone Work in any aquatic erection, which it unites into one solid mass, and withstands the action of the sea.

Directions for using the Cement in Brick or Stone Work.

Mix it with water to the consistency of thick paste, and use it immediately, the Bricks or Stones being previously well soaked in water; mix no more at a time than can be used in fifteen minutes, as, after it has once set, it will be unfit for use again. A rod of brick work will require about 68 bushels.

For Stuccoing.

Well rake out the joints of the walls, and having made them as wet as you can, lay on the Stucco, prepared of equal parts of Cement and clean sharp River Sand, wetted to the consistency of mortar, observing to lay on the whole coat at once, at least three quarters of an inch thick, and to hand-float it to a surface as expeditiously as possible, as much working the Cement injures its hardening quality. A yard surface of Stuccoing will require about three quarters of a bushel of Cement. Joints may be drawn on the Stucco, in imitation of regular Masonry, and when dry, may be coloured with a wash prepared as follows:—In each gallon of water, dissolve four ounces of green Copperas, adding as much fresh Lime and Cement as will produce the colour required; or a richer colour may be obtained, by using Umber and Ochre instead of Cement, adding a small proportion of Linseed Oil and Tar, which readily unites with water by means of the lime.

 Be careful not to Stucco new work till the building is settled.

ARTIFICIAL STONE.

Equal quantities of Cement and clean rough Sand, mixed as above directed for Stuccoing, and being cast in convenient wood moulds, will form a very beautiful and durable Artificial Stone, for Window Sills, Coping, Stringing, Courses, Imposts, Key Stones, and Profile Chimney pieces. The Cement is of great use for pointing Tiles, setting Chimney pots, &c. A course of Bricks being laid in Cement, and Stuccoed over, will form a very hard durable floor.

The Cement should be kept from air or damp, and exposed as little as possible in its manufactured state; it is carefully packed in sound Casks, containing five bushels each, and a constant supply will regularly be kept on sale, by the single Cask or larger quantity, by A. Slater, agent to the manufacturers, No. 306, Arch street.

Also, for sale, by

J. S. LEWIS & J. BACON, Dock-street.

PHILADELPHIA MUSEUM:

IN THE UPPER PART OF THE

STATE HOUSE, CHESNUT-STREET,

Open throughout the day; illuminated every Evening. Admittance 25 cents.

This Museum is the oldest and largest establishment in the United States, and contains immense collections from the Animal and Mineral kingdoms of nature, from all parts of the world.

These are all beautifully arranged so as to enable the visitor to study the objects with the greatest advantage. The collection of Implements and Ornaments of our Aboriginal tribes is very extensive and interesting, and the Cabinet of Antiquities, and Artificial Curiosities is not less worthy of attention. In addition to the ordinary attractions of a Museum, there is in this a very large collection of the Portraits of American Statesmen and Warriors of the Revolution, and of the most distinguished scientific men of Europe and America.

The Proprietor, C. W. Peale, desirous of securing the Museum permanently in this city, obtained an act of Incorporation, by which the stability of the Institution is insured, while, by the division of the property into 500 shares, of a nominal value, he is enabled to do every justice to his family. The act of Incorporation secures the use of the Museum in perpetuity to the city, and authorizes the Stockholders to appoint annually five trustees, who meet quarterly to regulate the business of the Institution, and declare the dividends to be made of the net profit. Nothing can be removed from the Institution under a penalty and forfeiture of double the value of the thing removed; hence donations may be made, with a certainty on the part of the donors, that the articles placed in the Museum will always remain for the public good.

EXPLANATION.

Look at the top for the century, then to the right for the intervening year; in a line with it under the century is the dominical letter for the year.

For bisextile, or leap years, use the letter on a line with the blank above that year, until the first of February.

Look for the month, and in a line with it under the given dominical letter, is the day of the week on which that month begins: then find the corresponding day at the top of the days of the week, and that column will be the days of the week for that month.

 For names not found in the body of the work, see list of Corrections and Removals.

The reader when searching for names, without knowing how properly to spell them, is requested to examine in every possible way they would admit of being spelled from their pronunciation. There are alternate references throughout the list of inhabitants, to those names having similar pronunciation, but not being spelled alike; viz. Allison, see Ellison—and vice versa.

Each page of the list of inhabitants, is headed in capitals, with the three first letters of the bottom name.

The reader will please to observe the following general rule for finding the numbers on houses, in the different streets in this city:—In those streets that run east and west, say High-street, the numbers begin from the Delaware, the odd being on the north side. In those that run north and south, say Fourth-street, the numbers begin from High-street, running north and south, the odd being on the east side.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.
Warden's Office, Philadelphia.

For the information and government of Owners, Masters, and others, having the command, care, or charge of Ships or Vessels within the port or harbour of Philadelphia, the Wardens of the port conceive it necessary to publish the following Rules and Regulations:

1. Every ship or vessel that may arrive in this harbour, and that shall come to anchor in the stream, any where between Almond street (in the district of Southwark,) and Vine street, having previously caused her gunpowder, if she had any on board, to be landed as the law directs, may remain in that situation 24 hours, and no longer: taking care to lay as near to the Island, or Sand-bar, as may be consistent with their safety. But if, from the circumstance of a vessel having servants on board, or from any other cause, it may be thought necessary or convenient to lie a longer time in the stream, then, and in every such case, the Owner, Master, Pilot, or other person, having the charge or direction of such vessel, shall remove her from opposite the city, and shall moor her, or cause her to be moored to the northward of Vine street, with one anchor and cable up, and one anchor and cable down the stream; and in both the above-mentioned situations, the regulations contained in the next succeeding article to be duly attended to.

2. When a ship or other vessel shall be hauled into any wharf or dock, or along side of another vessel that may be lying at such wharf or dock, the Owner, Master, Pilot, or whoever may have the command, care or direction of her, shall have her securely made fast, and if outside of another vessel, shall get one good fast from each end of the vessel to the shore, and within 24 hours thereafter, cause her jib-boom, spritsail-yard, main-boom, ring-tail and driver-booms, if any they have, to be rigged in, and their lower yards topped up, in such a manner as least to interfere with vessels passing.

3. If any vessel, properly moored in the stream, shall have her anchor or cable overlaid by another ship or vessel, in anchoring or mooring, the Master or person having the care or direction of such last-mentioned ship or vessel, shall immediately, or soon as may be, after application made to him by the party aggrieved, cause the said anchor and cable so over-laying, to be taken up and cleared.

4. If the fasts of a ship or vessel, when moored at a wharf, shall extend across a dock, so as to obstruct the passing or repassing of a shallop, lighter, or other craft or vessel, the Master or other person having the charge or command of such ship or vessel, shall, upon the first application, immediately cause such fast or fasts to be cast off or slacked down.

5. No outward bound vessel putting off from a wharf, shall be longer in the stream, between Vine street and Almond street (in the district of Southwark,) above-mentioned, than 24 hours. And if vessels lying at the end of wharves, so much interlock with each other, as to prevent vessels from hauling in or out of the docks, the Master, Owner, Pilot, or other person having charge of the same, shall immediately on application from any person so wanting to haul his vessel in or out of the dock aforesaid, have the vessel or vessels, so interfering, moved in such manner as to accommodate the one applied for; in which case the vessel making room for another to haul in or out, shall have liberty to make her warps fast to the most convenient place adjacent for a reasonable time, and that all sea vessels, when transporting or wanting to haul into a wharf or dock, or to make sail in order to proceed to sea, shall have the same privilege.

6. When any ship or vessel is lying along side any wharf, and not taking in or discharging, she shall make way for, and permit any vessel that wants to unload or load, to come inside next the wharf, until she discharges or loads her cargo; and the said vessel when so discharged or loaded, shall haul outside and give way to the ship or vessel that first occupied the wharf--Provided, that from the first day of December to the first day of March, no vessel shall be compelled to move,

Double letters, or those composed of two pieces of paper, double those rates. Triple letters, or those composed of three pieces of paper, triple those rates. Packets or letters composed of four or more pieces of paper, or one or more articles, and weighing one ounce avoirdupois, quadruple those rates; and in that proportion for all greater weight. Ship letters, not carried by mail, 6 cents.

Each newspaper, carried not over 100 miles, 1 cent; over 100 miles, $1\frac{1}{2}$ cent. But if carried to any place within the state where printed, whatever be the distance, the rate is only 1 cent.

Magazines and pamphlets are rated by the sheet, and carried over 50 miles, 1 cent; over 50, and not over 100, $1\frac{1}{2}$ cent; over 100, 2 cents. Every four folio pages, eight quarto pages, and sixteen octavo, or lesser pages, are to be considered a sheet; also the surplus pages beyond even fours, &c.

Letters must be left at the Post Office within the time specified, to insure going in the mail of the day; and Newspapers, before that time. As there are several places of the same name in the United States, it is necessary that the directions should be particular, the States should be distinguished, and, when it might otherwise be doubtful, the Counties. When letters are not for a Post Town, the nearest Post Town ought to be mentioned.

The Post Office is open daily, from sun-rise to sun-set, except on Sundays, the Fourth of July, and Christmas day, when it is open from 8 to 9 A. M. and from 2 to 3 P. M.

Persons wishing to pay postage when the Office is shut, can enclose the money with the letter, directed to "The Post Office." Those who keep accounts with the Carriers, or Office, will please to enclose the letter directed in the same manner, with a request that the postage be charged to their account.

All notes or letters deposited in this Office, directed to any part of the city east side of Broad street, and to the populous parts of the Northern Liberties and Southwark, will be carried out three times a day, viz. at 8 A. M. at 1 P. M. and half an hour before sun-set.

Letter Carriers—Abraham Cook, Josiah Johnson, Alexander Robb, David Watson, Isaac Bewley, Thomas F. Goodwin, James Robb.

[The object of this Company is the opening of a communication by water, for the transportation of the produce of the country, and of goods, wares, and merchandise, between the city of Philadelphia and the western and north-western counties of Pennsylvania, by means of a complete canal and lock navigation: it is now rapidly progressing. It must be a matter of gratulation to every Pennsylvanian to find public attention so much awakened to the lasting benefit of the state, in the improvement of the numerous and noble streams that traverse almost every county. When the Delaware shall have formed a junction with the Chesapeake and Rariton, should the present spirit of improving the Schuylkill, Susquehanna, &c. &c. continue—then, and not till then, will “Philadelphia be the Mistress of the American Continent.” Let our Legislature do their duty: we ought to lead. Maryland and New Jersey mainly depend, as it were, on our commencement of the work, which cannot but be beneficial to all concerned, especially to Philadelphia, from her central situation: with the Delaware and Schuylkill in front and rear, and the Lehigh Mines at a trifling distance, she must naturally be the emporium of the vast trade arising from this inland and canal navigation. The estimated expense of this desirable result, would, it is said, be considerably less than that of the Herculean Canal of New York. A perusal of two pamphlets, published some time since—the first by Wm. J. Duane, Esq., and the last by Samuel Breck, Esq. would furnish more real information relative to the topography of the state, its water courses, and the practicability of their conjunction, or of their being diverted into the Susquehanna, Schuylkill, &c. than is to be found in some fifty legislative speeches on the subject.]

PATENTS.

The general law concerning the issuing of patents will be found in the second volume of the laws of the United States, page 348, new edit. This law provides for citizens only, but a subsequent law (vol. iii. page 342) provides also for applicants who have resided two years or upwards in the United States, and who are not citizens.

In applying for a patent, it is necessary to attend to every legal form, for in consequence of inattention to forms only, some of the patents issued formerly, have in the courts of law been declared to be null and void.

MODE OF APPLICATION.

* "Every inventor, before he presents his petition to the secretary of state, signifying his desire of obtaining a patent, shall pay into the treasury of the United States thirty dollars,† for which he will be furnished with duplicate receipts, one of which he shall deliver to the secretary of state, when he presents his petition; and the money thus paid shall be in full for sundry services to be performed in the office of the secretary of state, consequent to such petition. This petition must be addressed to the secretary of state, and may be in the following or in a similar style:

To the Hon. _____, secretary of state of the United States.

The petition of A. B. of _____, in the county of _____, and state of _____, respectfully represents:

That your petitioner has invented a new and useful improvement ["or art, machine, manufacture or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement in any art, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter"] in _____ not known or used before his application, the advantages of which he is desirous of securing to himself and his legal representatives; he therefore prays that letters patent of the United States may be issued, granting unto your petitioner, his heirs, administrators or assigns, the full and exclusive right of making, constructing, using, and vending to others to be used, his said improvement, (art, invention, machine, manufacture or composition of matter, &c.) agreeably to the acts of congress in such case made and provided; your petitioner having paid thirty dollars into the treasury of the United States, and complied with the other provisions of the said acts.

(Signature.)

The specification or description of the machine, art, discovery, or invention, must be given in clear and specific terms, designating it from all other inventions, and describing the whole in such a manner as to comprehend not only the form and construction, of a machine, but also the mode of using the same; and if it be only an improvement on a certain machine already invented by the applicant or any other, it ought to be so mentioned or described; and as this specification, description or schedule, enters into, and forms part of the patent, it must be without any references to a model or drawing, and must be signed by the applicant or applicants before two witnesses. It is material that this be in good language, and correctly written, as it is transcribed into the patent, and the original papers will be deposited in an office, that will hand them down to posterity; by which the honour of the country is concerned in this attention. The modest inventor will, no doubt, exclude those panegyrics on the excellence of his invention or discovery, which abounds sometimes in the productions of the inferior genius, but which ought not to enter into the patent.

The following, or a similar oath of affirmation, taken [before a judge of any of the courts or justice of the peace, or any person qualified to administer an oath] by the applicant or applicants, must be subjoined to the specification, if citizens of the United States:

FORM.

County of _____ }
State of _____ } ss.

On this _____ of _____, 182 , before the subscriber a justice of the peace, in and for the said county, personally appeared the aforesaid A. B., and made solemn oath [or affirmation] according to law, that he verily believes himself to be the true and original inventor or discoverer of the art, [machine, invention, or improvement, composition of matter, &c.] above specified and described, for _____ [mention here the object or intention] _____, and that he is a citizen of the United States.

_____, Just. Peace.

If not a citizen (or citizens,) the following addition must be made to the declaration, "that he verily believes himself to be the true and original inventor or discoverer of the art, &c. * And that the same hath not, to the best of his or her knowledge, or belief, been known or used, either in this or any foreign country. _____." "Also that he (or she) hath resided in the United States two years and upwards."

It is not necessary that the time of residence should immediately precede the application.

If an inventor or discoverer should die intestate, before an application be made for a patent, his legal representatives may apply for the patent, in trust for the heirs at law; otherwise in trust for the devisees.†

The specification must be accompanied by a good drawing, in perspective, of the whole machine or apparatus " * where the nature of the case admits of drawings, or with specimens of the ingredients, and of the composition of matter, sufficient in quantity for the purpose of experiment, where the invention is of a composition of matter." "And such inventor shall, moreover, deliver a model of his machine, provided the secretary shall deem such model to be necessary." It is requisite, in giving a drawing of the machine, to give also sectional drawings of the interior when the machine be complex; and every drawing should be accompanied with explanatory references. If the machine is complex, a model will likewise be necessary, not only to explain and render it comprehensible to a common capacity, but also to prevent infringements of rights; for many will plead ignorance of drawings who cannot avoid conviction by wheels and pinions.

The drawings ought not to exceed a quarto size, and if confined to octavo they would be still better, where it can be done conveniently and distinctly.

Many of the drawings in this office are executed in a very handsome style, and do much credit to the gentlemen whose names are ascertained. If the artists would always sign them, with their directions, information might be given to the applicants for patents, where to apply for drawings.

The papers must all be sent directed to the superintendent of the Patent Office, under cover to the secretary of state, which of course renders them free of postage; but, if models be sent, their freight or carriage hither must be paid, and, before packing them, the name or names of the inventor or inventors should be written thereon, with the name of the machine, and the date; for, sometimes, on receiving them, it is difficult to know to whom they appertain.

The congress being impressed with a high sense of the value of the inventions of our citizens, have purchased an elegant and extensive building, wherein preparations are made for the accommodation of a very numerous collection of the machines illustrative of the ingenuity displayed; and this MUSEUM OF THE ARTS, it is presumed, will stimulate the ingenius to send the models of their machines and inventions in a style that will rather honour than discredit themselves and our country.

"And if, at the expiration of the term, the author or authors, or proprietors, or any of them, be living, and a citizen or citizens of these United States, or residents therein, the same exclusive right shall be continued to him or them, his or their executors, administrators, or assigns, for the further term of fourteen years: provided, he or they shall cause the title thereof to be recorded and published in the above manner, within six months before the expiration of the first term of fourteen years aforesaid. In securing designs for paper hangings and ornaments for rooms, &c., a specimen of which should be deposited in the clerk's office where the inventor resides, who will describe, in writing, all the ornaments, and the colours used in each, so as to designate them, with the changes that are proposed to be used in changing the ground and general tint. Let each paper, thus described, be numbered, 1, 2, 3, &c. and after entering them in the clerk's office, and publishing them as directed, let a specimen of each be sent to the honourable the secretary of state, or through him to the person who directs the patent office, with correspondent descriptions and numbers; and a certificate of such deposit will complete the requisitions of the law in securing the exclusive right to each original production of genius.

POST OFFICE LAW.

No ship or vessel from foreign ports, or coming by sea from any port of the United States, shall be permitted to report, make entry, or break bulk, till the master shall deliver, to the post-master, all letters under his care or within his power, other than such as are directed to the owner or owners of such ship or vessel, and an oath or affirmation to be taken of such delivery; the master to receive two cents for every letter so delivered.

SEC. 57. Goods found on board any vessel not noted on the manifest, the master to make post entry, previous to any permit being granted therefore.

Packages wanting, or goods not agreeing with the manifest,

* See an act for the encouragement of learning, &c. laws of the U. S. vol. ii. chap. 42, § 4, p. 122.

† See laws of the U. S. vol. ii. § 1, p. 105, 106.

the master forfeits 500 dollars, unless made appear to the satisfaction of the principal officers of the customs, that no part of the cargo has been unloaded since it was taken on board, except such as noted in the report, and pursuant to permits; and that such disagreement arises from accident or mistake.

SEC. 67. Vessels arriving from any foreign port, in distress, at any port in the United States, not being destined for the same, protest to be made by the master and mate, within twenty-four hours, and lodged at the custom-house; and within forty-eight hours enter his vessel, as in all other cases; and if by certificate of the wardens of the port, of the necessity thereof, the vessel may be unladen and cargo deposited in the public store, and reladen again (except such part as may be necessary to be sold to defray the expenses of the repairs of the vessel only, on which the duty shall be paid as in other cases) by permission from the custom-house free from any other charge than storage and fee to the officers of the custom, as in other cases.

SEC. 93. The master or person having command of any vessel bound to a foreign port or place, shall deliver to the collector of the district from whence such vessel is about to depart, a manifest of all the cargo on board, and the value thereof, subscribed by such person: the penalty for not delivering such manifest, and obtaining a clearance, previous to departure from such district, is 500 dollars for every offence.

IMPORTERS AND CONSIGNEES.

SEC. 36. Owners or consignees of goods imported are, within fifteen days after the master's report, to make entry with the collector, detailing the several contents and nett cost of each package particularly, and produce the original invoice, documents and bills of lading, which must be verified on oath or affirmation, by the said parties, who must subscribe the form of entry on oath.

When the above entry is made by any agent, factor, or other person, other than bona fide owner or consignee of such merchandise, such person to give bond in the sum of 1000 dollars, over and above what the duties may amount to, with condition, that the bona fide owner or consignee of such merchandise, shall, on or before the first period of payment of such duty become due, deliver to said collector, a full and correct account of said merchandise, in manner and form aforesaid, verified by a like oath or affirmation, before any judge of the United States, or a judge of any court of record of a state, or before a collector of the customs; and in case the duties are paid at the time of entry, a like bond to be given, that such an account shall be delivered, within ninety days from such entry.

When the particulars of such merchandise are not known, an entry thereof to be made according to circumstances; declaring on oath or affirmation, all the particulars the party knows or believes concerning the same, to be subscribed by the party: and where an imperfect entry is made, either for want of invoices, bills of lading, &c. the collector to take such merchandise into his custody, until the quantity, quality, or value can be ascertained.

SEC. 57. Every importer or consignee of distilled spirits, wines or teas, to make a separate entry of the same, specifying the name of the vessel and master, and place from whence; the quantity and quality, and a particular detail of the chests, casks, or vessels containing the same, with the marks and numbers; which entry, after being certified by the collector, to be produced to the surveyor or officer acting as inspector of the revenue for the port: and all permits granted by the collector for the above articles, shall, prior to the landing of the same, be produced to the surveyor or officer acting as inspector for the port, for endorsement; any of the above articles landed, contrary to the above direction, are subject to forfeiture, and five hundred dollars penalty on the master or person having charge of the vessel.

SEC. 52. Goods without invoice, or specification of particulars, to be stored by the collector until appraised, or invoices arrive, at the option of the importer.

Appraisers to ascertain and certify at what rate, or percentage, such goods are damaged; but no allowance for damage, unless such appraisement is lodged in the custom-house within ten days after the landing thereof, accompanied with a certificate of the wardens of the port.

SEC. 56. Goods not landed in fifteen days to be sent to the public store, and all goods so deposited to be at the risk and charge of the importer; and if not entered and the duties paid, or secured within nine months, to be sold, (being first advertised for one month) the surplus money arising from such sale, after the duties and charges are paid, to be paid into the treasury of the United States, for the benefit of the owners, who, upon due proof of the property, shall be entitled to the same. Perishable articles may be sold immediately.

SEC. 66. Goods entered under a fraudulent invoice to be forfeited, or where the collector shall suspect that such goods are not invoiced agreeable to the sum such goods are sold for at the place from whence they are imported, to be taken into his possession at the risk and expense of the importer, until they are appraised, and in case of prosecution for the forfeiture aforesaid, such appraisement shall not exclude other proof on trial, of the actual and real cost of the said goods at the place from whence imported.

SEC. 67. Packages may be opened in presence of two merchants, upon suspicion of fraud, and re-packed under the inspection of an officer; and if found to differ from the entry, to be forfeited, unless made appear to the satisfaction of the principal officers of the customs, or a court on trial, that such difference proceed from accident or mistake, or without intention of fraud.

RETURNED CARGO.

SEC. 47. When goods, &c. the growth or manufacture of the United States shall be returned, not having been shipped for the benefit of drawback or bounty, no duty to be demanded.

SEC. 48. Report and entry of such goods, &c. to be made, and proof, by oath or affirmation of the facts thereof.

N. B. When the goods so returned have been exported from any other district than the one they may be imported in, bonds to be given by the importer, in addition to the above oath, in the sum of the duties that within six months, a certificate shall be produced from the collector of the customs for the district from whence they were exported, that such goods were actually so exported: in default of which, the bond to be forfeited and the penalty paid.

PASSENGERS.

SEC. 46. Entry to be made by passengers of all clothes, tools or implements of trade or professions, arriving in the United States to settle; which articles are exempted from duty.

If the articles shall be entered by any other person than the owner, bond to be given in a sum equal to the amount of what the duties would be if imported subject to duty: that the owner shall within one year verify such entry on oath, or the collector may direct such baggage to be examined; and if any article is contained therein, which ought to pay duty, entry must be made thereof; and if an entry is made as aforesaid, and upon examination thereof, any article is found therein subject to duty, (not having been expressed at the time of making the entry) it is forfeited, and the person in whose baggage the same shall be found forfeits and shall pay treble the value thereof.

Mode of obtaining Drawback on Foreign Merchandise.

SEC. 75. Merchandise imported into the United States, (foreign caught fish, fish oil, and playing cards excepted) if exported within one year from the paying or securing the duties thereon, from the ports of original importation, are entitled to a drawback of such duties, or may be transported coastwise to certain districts, and the drawback, if exported from thence to a foreign port, excepting those immediately adjoining the United States,* by observing the following directions: provided, the duties paid or secured on such merchandise imported by one person or co-partnership, and entered at the same time, shall amount to fifty dollars, except distilled liquors, which must be one hundred and fifty gallons.

* St. Augustine, Nova Scotia, Halifax, and the Canadas.

and exported in the original casks, cases, chests, boxes, or other packages in which they were imported, except liquors in casks, coffee or cocoa in casks or other packages, or unrefined sugar which may be filled up out of others of the same importation, or put up into new casks or packages corresponding therewith, which must be marked and numbered as the originals, but no change or filling up to take place unless the casks or other packages are unfit for exportation, and in no other case; the whole to be performed under the inspection of a proper officer appointed for that purpose.

When articles are imported in bulk, the packages in which they are landed shall be deemed the packages of original importation, and must be exported in the same; and all certificates for distilled spirits, wines, or teas must be given up, or no drawback to be allowed.

SEC. 76. Twenty-four hours notice to be given by lodging an entry thereof before shipping the goods, except distilled spirits, which require but six hours; and goods shipped without a proper permit, forfeit the drawback.

Previously to any permit being given, proof must be made by the importer, of the importation and the paying or securing the duties thereon, and every other person through whose hands such merchandise may have passed, of the identity thereof.

SEC. 82. If any goods, wares or merchandise, entered for exportation with intent to draw back the duties, shall be landed within the limits of the United States, the same is subject to seizure and forfeiture, together with the ship or vessel: and the vessels or boats used in landing the same, and all persons concerned therein upon conviction, to suffer imprisonment not exceeding six months.

SEC. 77. Merchandise may be transported coastwise to such ports as vessels arriving from the Cape of Good Hope, or beyond the same, are admitted to enter at, by making the following entry, and obtaining a certificate from the port of original importation.

SEC. 78. CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

The Constitution framed for the United States of America by a Convention of Deputies from the States of New-Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New-York, New-Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia, at a Session begun May 25, and ended September 17, 1787.

WE, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, ensure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defence, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I.

SECTION I.

ALL legislative powers herein granted, shall be vested in a Congress of the United States which shall consist of a senate and house of representatives.

SECTION II.

I. The house of representatives shall consist of members chosen every second year, by the people of the several states: and the electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislature.

II. No person shall be a representative, who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States; and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen.

III. Representatives and direct taxes, shall be apportioned among the several states, which may be included within this union, according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the congress of the United States; and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand: but each state shall have at least one representative: and, until such enumeration shall be made, the state of New-Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three; Massachusetts eight; Rhode-Island and Providence plantations one; Connecticut five; New-York six; New-Jersey four; Pennsylvania eight; Delaware one; Maryland six; Virginia ten; North-Carolina five; South-Carolina five; and Georgia three.

IV. When vacancies happen in the representation from any state, the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

V. The house of representatives shall choose their speaker and other officers; and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

SECTION III.

I. The senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, chosen by the legislature thereof, for six years; and each senator shall have one vote.

II. Immediately after they shall be assembled, in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided, as equally as may be, into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year; of the second class, at the expiration of the fourth year; and of the third class, at the expiration of the sixth year: so that one-third may be chosen every second year. And if vacancies happen, by resignation or otherwise, during the recess of the legislature of any state, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.

III. No person shall be a senator, who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States; and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state for which he shall be chosen.

IV. The vice-president of the United States shall be president of the senate, but shall have no vote unless they be equally divided.

V. The senate shall choose their other officers, and also a president pro tempore in the absence of the vice-president, or when he shall exercise the office of president of the United States.

VI. The senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose, they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the president of the United States is tried, the chief Justice shall preside: and no person shall be convicted, without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

VII. Judgment, in cases of impeachment, shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honour, trust, or profit, under the United States. But the party convicted shall, nevertheless, be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment according to law.

SECTION IV.

I. The times, places, and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives, shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof: but the congress may, at any time, by law, make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing senators.

II. The congress shall assemble at least once in every year; and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

SECTION V.

I Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members; and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner, and under such penalties as each house may provide.

II. Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings; punish its members for disorderly behaviour; and with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

III. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and, from time to time, publish the same, excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy: and the yeas and nays, of the members of either house on any question, shall at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

IV. Neither house during the session of congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

SECTION VI.

I. The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall, in all cases, except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest, during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same: for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

II. No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office, under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments of which shall have been increased, during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house, during his continuance in office.

SECTION VII.

I. All bills, for raising revenue, shall originate in the house of representatives: but the senate shall propose or concur with amendments, as on other bills.

II. Every bill, which shall have passed the house of representatives and the senate, shall, before it become a law, be presented to the president of the United States. If he approve, he shall sign it: but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and, if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But, in all such cases, the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays: and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the president, within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the congress, by their adjournment, prevent its return; in which case it shall not be a law.

III. Every order, resolution, or vote, to which the concurrence of the senate and house of representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the president of the United States; and, before the same shall take effect, be approved by him; or, being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of both houses, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

SECTION VIII.

The congress shall have power—

I. To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts, and excise, to pay the debts and provide for the common defence and general welfare of the United States: but all duties, imposts, and excises, shall be uniform throughout the United States.

II. To borrow money on the credit of the United States.

III. To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and with the Indian tribes.

IV. To establish a uniform rule of naturalization; and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies, throughout the United States.

V. To coin money; to regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coin; and fix the standard of weights and measures.

VI. To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States.

VII. To establish post-offices and post-roads.

VIII. To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing for limited times, to authors and inventors, the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries.

IX. To constitute tribunals inferior to the supreme court.

X. To define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offences against the law of nations.

XI. To declare war; grant letters of marque and reprisal; and make rules concerning captures on land and water.

XII. To raise and support armies. But no appropriation of money for that use, shall be for a longer term than two years.

XIII. To provide and maintain a navy.

XIV. To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces.

XV. To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the union, suppress insurrections, and repel invasions.

XVI. To provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States; reserving to the states respectively the appointment of the officers, and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by congress.

XVII. To exercise exclusive legislation, in all cases whatsoever, over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular states, and the acceptance of congress, become the seat of the government of the United States; and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the consent of the legislature of the state in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock-yards, and other needful buildings; and XVIII. To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this constitution in the government of the United States, or any department or officer thereof.

SECTION IX.

I. The migration or importation of such persons, as any of the states now existing shall think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by the congress, prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight; but a tax may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

II. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when, in cases of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it.

III. No bill of attainder or ex post facto law shall be passed.

IV. No capitation or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration herein before directed to be taken.

V. No tax or duties shall be laid on articles exported from any state. No preference shall be given, by any regulation of commerce or revenue, to the ports of one state, over those of another: nor shall vessels, bound to or from one state, be obliged to enter, clear, or pay duties in another.

VI. No money shall be drawn from the treasury, but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

VII. No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States: and no person, holding any office of profit or trust under them, shall, without the consent of congress, accept of any present, emolument, office, or title, of any kind whatever, from any king, prince, or foreign state.

SECTION X.

I. No state shall enter into any treaty, alliance, or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit; make any thing but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, or grant any title of nobility.

II. No state shall, without the consent of congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws; and the net produce of all duties and imposts laid by any state on imports or exports, shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of congress. No state shall, without the consent of congress, lay any duty on tonnage, keep troops, or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another state, or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

SECTION I.

I. The executive power shall be vested in a president of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the vice-president, chosen for the same term, be elected as follows:

II. Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of senators and representatives, to which the state may be entitled in the congress. But no senator or representative, or person holding any office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

III. The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for two persons, one of whom at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each: which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit, sealed, to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the house of representatives shall immediately choose by ballot one of them for president: and if no person have a majority, then, from the five highest on the list the said house shall in like manner choose the president. But in choosing the president, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote: a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states: and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the president, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors, shall be the vice-president. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the senate shall choose from them, by ballot, the vice-president.

IV. The congress may determine the time of choosing electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes; which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

V. No person, except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this constitution, shall be eligible to the office of president. Neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

VI. In case of the removal of the president from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice-president; and the congress may, by law, provide for the case of removal, death, or inability both of the president and vice-president; declaring what officer shall then act as president: and such officer shall act accordingly, until the disability be removed, or a president shall be elected.

VII. The president shall, at stated times, receive for his services, a compensation which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected: and he shall not receive, within that period, any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

VIII. Before he enter on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation:

“ I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States; and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the constitution of the United States.”

SECTION II.

I. The president shall be commander in chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several states, when called into the actual service of the United States. He may require the opinion in writing of the principal officers in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices; and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons, for offences against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

II. He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur: and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls, judges of the supreme court, and all other officers of the United States, whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law. But the congress may, by law, vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper in the president alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

III. The president shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

SECTION III.

He shall from time to time give to the congress information of the state of the union; and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedi-

ent. He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses or either of them; and, in case of disagreement between them, with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper. He shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers. He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed; and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

SECTION IV.

The president, vice-president, and all civil officers of the United States shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of, treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III.

SECTION I.

The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the congress may, from time to time ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behaviour; and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

SECTION II.

I. The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity, arising under this constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party, to controversies between two or more states, between a state and citizens of another state, between citizens of different states, between citizens of the same state claiming lands under grants of different states, and between a state, or the citizens thereof and foreign states, citizens, or subjects.

II. In all cases, affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be a party, the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction both as to law and fact, with such exceptions, and under such regulations, as the congress shall make.

III. The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury, and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as the congress may by law have directed.

SECTION III.

I. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

II. The congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason; but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attainted.

ARTICLE IV.

SECTION I.

Full faith and credit shall be given, in each state, to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of every other state. And the congress may, by penal laws, prescribe the manner in which such acts, records, and proceeding shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

SECTION II.

I. The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all the privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states.

II. A person charged in any state with treason, felony or other crime, who shall flee from justice and be found in another state, shall, on demand of the executive authority of the state from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the state having jurisdiction of the crime.

III. No person, held to service or labour in one state under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labour; but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labour may be due.

SECTION III.

I. New states may be admitted by the congress into this union; but no new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state, nor any state be formed by the junction of two or more states—without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned, as well as of the congress.

II. The congress shall have power to dispose of, and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States: and nothing in this constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States, or of any particular state.

SECTION IV.

The United States shall guarantee to every state in this union, a republican form of government; and shall protect each of them against invasion, and on application of the legislature, or of the executive (when the legislature cannot be convened) against domestic violence.

ARTICLE V.

The congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this constitution, or on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments; which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the congress:

Provided, that no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight, shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first article; and that no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the senate.

ARTICLE VI.

I. All debts contracted, and engagements entered into, before the adoption of this constitution, shall be as valid against the United States, under this constitution, as under the confederation.

II. This constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land, and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, any thing in the constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding.

III. The senators and representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several state legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several states, shall be bound, by oath or affirmation, to support this constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII.

The ratification of the convention of nine states shall be sufficient for the establishment of this constitution between the states so ratifying the same.

Done in the convention by the unanimous consent of the states present, the seventeenth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven, and of the independence of the United States of America the twelfth. In witness whereof we have subscribed our names.

AMENDMENTS.

The following articles in addition to, and amendment of, the constitution of the United States, having been ratified by the legislatures of nine states, are equally obligatory with the constitution itself.

I. CONGRESS shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

II. A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

III. No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house, without the consent of the owner; nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

IV. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated; and no warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

V. No person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces or in the militia, when in actual service, in time of war, or public danger: nor shall any person be subject, for the same offence, to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case, to be witness against himself; nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation.

VI. In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury, of the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed; which district shall have been previously ascertained by law; and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favour; and to have the assistance of counsel for his defence.

VII. In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved; and no fact tried by jury shall be otherwise re-examined in any court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

VIII. Excessive bail shall not be required; nor excessive fines imposed; nor cruel and unusual punishment inflicted.

IX. The enumeration, in the constitution, of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

X. The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people.

XI. The judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by citizens of another state, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign state.

XII. The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for president and vice president, one of whom, at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as president, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as vice-president; and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as president, and of all persons voted for as vice-president, and of the number of votes for each, which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate; the president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted: the person having the greatest number of votes for president shall be the president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers not exceeding three on the list of those voted for as president, the house of representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the president. But in choosing the president, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. And if the house of representatives shall not choose a president whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the vice-president shall act as president, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the president.

The person having the greatest number of votes as vice-president, shall be vice-president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list, the senate shall choose the vice-president: a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice.

But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of president shall be eligible to that of vice-president of the United States.

CONSTITUTION OF PENNSYLVANIA,

As ratified in Convention, the 2d day of September, 1790.

WE, the people of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, ordain and establish this constitution for its government.

ARTICLE I.

§ 1. The legislative power of this commonwealth shall be vested in a general assembly, which shall consist of a senate and house of representatives.

2. The representatives shall be chosen annually, by the citizens of the city of Philadelphia, and of each county respectively, on the second Tuesday of October.

3. No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained the age of twenty-one years, and have been a citizen and inhabitant of the state three years next preceding his election, and the last year thereof an inhabitant of the city or county in which he shall be chosen; unless he shall have been absent on the public business of the United States, or of this state. No person residing within any city, town, or borough, which shall be entitled to a separate representation, shall be elected a member for any county; nor shall any person residing without the limits of any such city, town, or borough, be elected a member therefor.

4. Within three years after the first meeting of the general assembly, and within every subsequent term of seven years, an enumeration of the taxable inhabitants shall be made, in such manner as shall be directed by law. The number of representatives shall, at the several periods of making such enumeration, be fixed by the legislature, and apportioned among the city of Philadelphia and the several counties, according to the number of taxable inhabitants in each; and shall never be less than sixty, nor greater than one hundred. Each county shall have at least one representative; but no county, hereafter erected, shall be entitled to a separate representation, until a sufficient number of taxable inhabitants shall be contained within it to entitle them to one representative, agreeable to the ratio which shall then be established.

5. The senators shall be chosen for four years, by the citizens of Philadelphia and of the several counties at the same time, in the same manner, and at the same places where they shall vote for representatives.

6. The number of senators shall, at the several periods of making the enumeration before mentioned, be fixed by the legislature and apportioned among the districts formed as hereinafter directed, according to the number of taxable inhabitants in each; and shall never be less than one-fourth, nor greater than one-third, of the number of representatives.

7. The senators shall be chosen in districts, to be formed by the legislature; each district containing such a number of taxable inhabitants as shall be entitled to elect not more than four senators. When a district shall be composed of two or more counties, they shall be adjoining. Neither the city of Philadelphia nor any county, shall be divided, in forming a district.

8. No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained the age of twenty-five years, and have been a citizen and inhabitant of the state four years next before his election, and the last year thereof an inhabitant of the district for which he shall have been chosen; unless he shall have been absent on the public business of the United States, or of this state.

9. Immediately after the senators shall be assembled, in consequence of the first election, subsequent to the first enumeration, they shall be divided, by lot, as equally as may be, into four classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the first year; of the second class, at the expiration of the second year; of the third class, at the expiration of the third year; and of the fourth class, at the expiration of the fourth year; so that one-fourth may be chosen every year.

10. The general assembly shall meet on the first Tuesday of December in every year, unless sooner convened by the governor.

11. Each house shall choose its speaker and other officers; and the senate shall also choose a speaker, pro tempore, when the speaker shall exercise the office of governor.

12. Each house shall judge of the qualifications of its members. Contested elections shall be determined by a committee, to be selected, formed, and regulated in such manner as shall be directed by law. A majority of each house shall constitute a quorum to do business: but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized, by law, to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner, and under such penalties, as may be provided.

13. Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings; punish its members for disorderly behaviour; and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member; but not a second time for the same cause, and shall have all other powers necessary for a branch of the legislature of a free state.

14. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and publish them weekly, except such parts as may require secrecy. And the yeas and nays of the members, on any question, shall, at the desire of any two of them, be entered on the journals.

15. The doors of each house, and of committees of the whole, shall be open, unless when the business shall be such as ought to be kept secret.

16. Neither house shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

17. The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the commonwealth. They shall, in all cases except treason, felony, and breach or surety of the peace, be free from arrest, during their attendance at the session of the respective privileged houses, and in going to and returning from the same. And for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

18. No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he shall have been elected, be appointed to any civil office, under this commonwealth, which shall have been created, or the emoluments of which shall have been increased, during such time; and no member of congress, or other person holding any office, except of attorney at law, and in the militia, under the United States or this commonwealth, shall be a member of either house, during his continuance in congress, or in office.

19. When vacancies happen in either house, the speaker shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

20. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives; but the senate may propose amendments, as in other bills.

21. No money shall be drawn from the treasury, but in consequence of appropriations made by law.

22. Every bill, which shall have passed both houses, shall be presented to the governor. If he approve, he shall sign it; but if he shall not approve, he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large upon their journals, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, with the objections, to the other house, by which, likewise, it shall be reconsidered; and if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall be a law. But, in such cases, the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays; and the names of the persons voting for or against the bill shall be entered on the journals of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall be presented to him, it shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the general assembly, by their adjournment, prevent its return; in which case, it shall be a law, unless sent back within three days after their next meeting.

23. Every order, resolution, or vote, to which the concurrence of both houses may be necessary, (except on a question of adjournment,) shall be presented to the governor; and, before it shall take effect, be approved by him; or, being disapproved, shall be re-passed by two-thirds of both houses, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in case of a bill.

ARTICLE II.

§ 1. The supreme executive power of this commonwealth shall be vested in a governor.

2. The governor shall be chosen on the second Tuesday of October, by the citizens of the commonwealth, at the places where they shall respectively vote for representatives. The returns of every election for governor, shall be sealed up and transmitted to the seat of government, directed to the speaker of the senate, who shall open and publish them, in the presence of the members of both houses of the legislature. The person having the highest number of votes shall be governor. But, if two or more shall be equal and highest in votes, one of them shall be chosen governor by the joint vote of the members of both houses. Contested elections shall be determined by a committee, to be selected from both houses of the legislature, and formed and regulated in such manner as shall be directed by law.

3. The governor shall hold his office during three years from the third Tuesday of December next ensuing his election; and shall not be capable of holding it longer than nine in any term of twelve years.

4. He shall be at least thirty years of age, and have been a citizen and inhabitant of this state seven years next before his election; unless he shall have been absent on the public business of the United States, or of this state.

5. No member of congress, or person holding any office under the United States, or this state, shall exercise the office of governor.

6. The governor shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation which shall be neither increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected.

7. He shall be commander in chief of the army and navy of this commonwealth, and of the militia; except when they shall be called into the actual service of the United States.

8. He shall appoint all officers, whose offices are established by this constitution, or shall be established by law, and whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for; but no person shall be appointed to an office within any county who shall not have been a citizen and inhabitant therein one year next before his appointment, if the county shall have been so long erected; but, if it shall not have been so long erected, then within the limits of the county or counties out of which it shall have been taken. No member of congress from this state, or any person holding or exercising any office of trust or profit under the United States, shall, at the same time, hold or exercise the office of judge, secretary, treasurer, prothonotary, register of wills, recorder of deeds, sheriff, or any office in this state, to which a salary is by law annexed, or any other office which future legislatures shall declare incompatible with offices or appointments under the United States.

9. He shall have power to remit fines and forfeitures, and grant reprieves and pardons, except in cases of impeachment.

10. He may require information, in writing, from the officers in the executive department, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices.

11. He shall, from time to time, give to the general assembly information of the state of the commonwealth, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge expedient.

12. He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene the general assembly: and, in case of disagreement between the two houses, with respect to the time of adjournment, adjourn to such time as he shall think proper, not exceeding four months.

13. He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

14. In case of the death or resignation of the governor, or of his removal from office, the speaker of the senate shall exercise the office of governor, until another governor shall be duly qualified. And if the trial of a contested election shall continue longer than until the third Tuesday in December next ensuing the election of governor, the governor of the last year, or the speaker of the senate, who may be in the exercise of the executive authority, shall continue therein until the determination of such contested election, and until a governor shall be qualified as aforesaid.

15. A secretary shall be appointed and commissioned during the governor's continuance in office, if he shall so long behave himself well. He shall keep a fair register of all the official acts and proceedings of the governor, and shall, when required, lay the same, and all papers, minutes, and vouchers relative thereto, before either branch of the legislature; and shall perform such other duties as shall be enjoined him by law.

ARTICLE III.

§ 1. In elections by the citizens, every freeman, of the age of twenty-one years, having resided in the state two years next before the election, and within that time paid a state or county tax, which shall have been assessed at least six months before the election, shall enjoy the rights of an elector: Provided, that the sons of persons qualified as aforesaid, between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-two years, shall be entitled to vote, although they shall not have paid taxes.

2. All elections shall be by ballot, except those by persons in their representative capacities, who shall vote viva voce.

3. Electors shall, in all cases, except treason, felony, and breach or surety of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance on elections, and in going to and returning from them.

ARTICLE IV.

§ 1. The house of representatives shall have the sole power of impeaching.

2. All impeachments shall be tried by the senate. When sitting for that purpose, the senators shall be upon oath or affirmation. No person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

3. The governor, and all other civil officers, under this commonwealth, shall be liable to impeachment for any misdemeanor in office. But judgment in such cases shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold any office of honour, trust, or profit, under this commonwealth. The party, whether convicted or acquitted, shall, nevertheless, be liable to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment, according to law.

ARTICLE V.

§ 1. The judicial power of this commonwealth shall be vested in a supreme court, in courts of oyer and terminer and general gaol delivery, in a court of common pleas, orphans' court, register's court, and a court of quarter sessions of the peace, for each county, in justices of the peace, and in such other courts as the legislature may, from time to time, establish.

2. The judges of the supreme court, and of the several courts of common pleas, shall hold their offices during good behaviour. But, for any reasonable cause, which shall not be sufficient ground of impeachment, the governor may remove any of them, on the address of two-thirds of each branch of the legislature. The judges of the supreme court, and the presidents of the several courts of common pleas, shall, at stated times, receive for their services an adequate compensation, to be fixed by law, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office; but they shall receive no fees or perquisites of office, nor hold any other office of profit under this commonwealth.

3. The jurisdiction of the supreme court shall extend over the state; and the judges thereof shall, by virtue of their officers, be justices of oyer and terminer and general gaol delivery, in the several counties.

4. Until it shall be otherwise directed by law, the several courts of common pleas shall be established in the following manner: The governor shall appoint, in each county, not fewer than three, nor more than four judges, who, during their continuance in office, shall reside in such county. The state shall be divided by law into circuits, none of which shall include more than six, nor fewer than three counties. A president shall be appointed of the courts in each circuit, who, during his continuance in office, shall reside therein. The president and judges, any two of whom shall be a quorum, shall compose the respective courts of common pleas.

5. The judges of the court of common pleas in each county shall, by virtue of their offices, be justices of oyer and terminer, and general gaol delivery, for the trial of capital and other offenders therein; any two of the said judges, the president being one, shall be a quorum; but they shall not hold a court of oyer and terminer or gaol delivery in any county, when the judges of the supreme court, or any of them, shall be sitting in the same county. The party accused, as well as the commonwealth, may, under such regulations as shall be prescribed by law, remove the indictment and proceedings, or a transcript thereof, into the supreme court.

6. The supreme court, and the several courts of common pleas, shall, beside the powers heretofore usually exercised by them, have the powers of a court of chancery, so far as relates to the perpetuating testimony, the obtaining of evidence from places not within this state, and the care of the persons and estates of those who are non compos mentis; and the legislature shall vest in the said courts such other powers, to grant relief in equity, as shall be found necessary; and may from time to time, enlarge or diminish those powers, or vest them in such other courts as they shall judge proper, for the due administration of justice.

7. The judges of the court of common pleas of each county, any two of whom shall be a quorum, shall compose the court of quarter sessions of the peace, and orphans' court thereof: and the register of wills, together with the said judges, or any two of them, shall compose the register's court of each county.

8. The judges of the courts of common pleas shall, within their respective counties, have the like powers with the judges of the supreme court, to issue writs of certiorari to the justices of the peace, and to cause their proceedings to be brought before them, and the like right and justice to be done.

9. The president of the court in each circuit, within such circuit, and the judges of the court of common pleas, within their respective counties, shall be justices of the peace, so far as relates to criminal matters.

10. The governor shall appoint a competent number of justices of the peace, in such convenient districts, in each county, as are or shall be directed by law; they shall be commissioned during good behaviour; but may be removed on conviction of misbehaviour in office, or of any infamous crime, or on the address of both houses of the legislature.

11. A register's office, for the probate of wills and granting letters of administration, and an office for the recording of deeds, shall be kept in each county.

12. The style of all process shall be, the commonwealth of Pennsylvania; all prosecutions shall be carried on in the name and by the authority of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and conclude, against the peace and dignity of the same.

ARTICLE VI.

§ 1. Sheriffs and coroners shall, at the times and places of election of representatives, be chosen by the citizens of each county. Two persons shall be chosen for each office, one of whom, for each respectively, shall be appointed by the governor. They shall hold their offices for three years, if they shall so long behave themselves well, and until a successor be duly qualified; but no person shall be twice chosen or appointed sheriff, in any term of six years. Vacancies in either of the said offices shall be filled by a new appointment, to be made by the governor, to continue until the next general election, and until a successor shall be chosen and qualified as aforesaid.

2. The freemen of this commonwealth shall be armed and disciplined for its defence. Those who conscientiously scruple to bear arms, shall not be compelled to do so; but shall pay an equivalent for personal service. The militia officers shall be appointed in such manner, and for such time, as shall be directed by law.

3. Prothonotaries, clerks of the peace, and orphans' courts, recorders of deeds, registers of wills, and sheriffs, shall keep their offices in the county town of the county in which they respectively shall be officers; unless when the governor shall, for special reasons, dispense therewith for any term not exceeding five years, after the county shall have been erected.

4. All commissions shall be in the name and by the authority of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and be sealed with the state seal, and signed by the governor.

5. The state treasurer shall be appointed annually, by the joint vote of the members of both houses. All other officers in the treasury department, attornies at law, election officers, officers relating to taxes, to the poor, and highways, constables, and other township officers, shall be appointed in such manner as is or shall be directed by law.

ARTICLE VII.

§ 1. The legislature shall, as soon as conveniently may be, provide by law for the establishment of schools throughout the state, in such manner that the poor may be taught gratis.

2. The arts and sciences shall be promoted, in one or more seminaries of learning.

3. The rights, privileges, immunities, and estates, of religious societies and corporate bodies, shall remain as if the constitution of this state had not been altered or amended.

ARTICLE VIII.

Members of the general assembly, and all officers, executive and judicial, shall be bound, by oath or affirmation, to support the constitution of this commonwealth, and to perform the duties of their respective offices with fidelity.

ARTICLE IX.

That the general, great, and essential principles of liberty and free government may be recognised and unalterably established, we declare:

1. That all men are born equally free and independent, and have certain inherent and indefeasible rights, among which are those of enjoying and defending life and liberty, of acquiring, possessing, and protecting property and reputation, and of pursuing their own happiness.

2. That all power is inherent in the people; and all free governments are founded on their authority, and instituted for their peace, safety, and happiness. For the advancement of those ends, they have, at all times, an unalienable and indefeasible right to alter, reform, or abolish their government, in such manner as they may think proper.

3. That all men have a natural and indefeasible right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own consciences: and no man can, of right, be compelled to attend, erect, or support any place of worship, or to maintain any ministry, against his consent; that no human authority can, in any case whatever, control or interfere with the rights of conscience: and that no preference shall ever be given, by law, to any religious establishments or modes of worship.

4. That no person, who acknowledges the being of a God and a future state of rewards and punishments, shall, on account of his religious sentiments, be disqualified to hold any office or place of trust or profit under this commonwealth.

5. That elections shall be free and equal.

6. The trial by jury shall be as heretofore, and the right thereof remain inviolate.

7. That the printing presses shall be free to every person who undertakes to examine the proceedings of the legislature, or any branch of government; and no law shall ever be made to restrain the right thereof. The free communication of thoughts and opinions is one of the invaluable rights of man: and every citizen may freely speak, write, and print on any subject, being responsible for the abuse of that liberty. In prosecutions for the publication of papers investigating the official conduct of officers, or men in public capacity, or where the matter published is proper for public information, the truth thereof may be given in evidence. And, in all indictments for libels, the jury shall have a right to determine the law and the facts, under the direction of the court, as in other cases.

8. That the people shall be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and possessions, from unreasonable searches and seizures: and that no warrant to search any place or to seize any person or things, shall issue, without describing them as nearly as may be, nor without probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation.

9. That, in all criminal prosecutions, the accused hath a right to be heard by himself and his counsel: to demand the nature and cause of the accusation against him: to meet the witnesses face to face; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favour; and, in prosecutions by indictment or information, a speedy, public trial, by an impartial jury of the vicinage: that he cannot be compelled to give evidence against himself, nor can he be deprived of his life, liberty, or property, unless by the judgment of his peers, or the law of the land.

10. That no persons shall, for any indictable offence, be proceeded against criminally by information, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia when in actual service, in time of war or public danger, or, by leave of the court, for oppression and misdemeanor in office. No person shall, for the same offence, be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall any man's property be taken or applied to public use, without the consent of his representatives, and without just compensation being made.

11. That all courts shall be open; and every man, for an injury done him in his lands, goods, person, or reputation, shall have remedy by the due course of law, and right and justice administered without sale, denial, or delay. Suits may be brought against the commonwealth in such manner, in such courts, and in such cases, as the legislature may by law direct.

12. That no power of suspending laws shall be exercised unless by the legislature or its authority.

13. That excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel punishments inflicted.

14. That all prisoners shall be bailable by sufficient sureties, unless for capital offences, when the proof is evident, or presumption great; and the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in cases of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it.

15. That no commission of oyer and terminer or gaol delivery shall be issued.

16. That the person of a debtor, where there is not strong presumption of fraud, shall not be continued in prison after delivering up his estate for the benefit of his creditors in such manner as shall be prescribed by law.

17. That no ex post facto law, nor any law impairing contracts, shall be made.

18. That no person shall be attainted of treason or felony by the legislature.

19. That no attainder shall work corruption of blood, nor, except during the life of the offender, forfeiture of estate to the commonwealth: that the estates of such persons as shall destroy their own lives, shall descend or vest as in case of natural death; and if any person shall be killed by casualty, there shall be no forfeiture by reason thereof.

20. That the citizens have a right in a peaceable manner, to assemble together for their common good, and to apply to those invested with the powers of government for redress of grievances, or other proper purposes, by petition, address, or remonstrance.

21. That the right of the citizens to bear arms, in defence of themselves and the state, shall not be questioned.

22. That no standing army shall, in time of peace, be kept up, without the consent of the legislature; and the military shall in all cases, and at all times, be in strict subordination to the civil power.

23. That no soldier shall in time of peace, be quartered in any house, without the consent of the owner, nor, in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

24. That the legislature shall not grant any title of nobility or hereditary distinction, nor create any office the appointment to which shall be for a longer term than during good behaviour.

25. That emigration from the state shall not be prohibited.

26. To guard against transgressions of the high powers which we have delegated, we declare, that every thing in this article, is excepted out of the general powers of government, and shall for ever remain inviolate.

SCHEDULE.

That no inconvenience may arise from the alterations and amendments in the constitution of this commonwealth, and, in order to carry the same into complete operation, it is hereby declared and ordained :

1. That all laws of this commonwealth, in force at the time of making the said alterations and amendments in the said constitution, and not inconsistent therewith, and all rights, actions, prosecutions, claims, and contracts, as well of individuals as of bodies corporate shall continue as if the said alterations and amendments had not been made.

2. That the president and supreme executive council shall continue to exercise the executive authority of this commonwealth, as heretofore, until the third Tuesday of December next; but no intermediate vacancies in the council shall be supplied by new elections.

3. That all officers in the appointment of the executive department, shall continue in the exercise of the duties of their respective offices until the first day of September, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-one, unless their commissions shall sooner expire by their own limitations, or the said offices become vacant by death or resignation, and no longer, unless reappointed and commissioned by the governor; except that the judges of the supreme court shall hold their offices for the terms in their commissions respectively expressed.

4. That justice shall be administered in the several counties of this state until the period aforesaid, by the same justices, in the same courts, and in the same manner, as heretofore.

5. That no person now in commission as sheriff, shall be eligible at the next election for a longer term than will, with the time which he shall have served in the said office, complete the term of three years.

6. That, until the first enumeration shall be made, as directed in the fourth section of the first article of the constitution established by this convention, the city of Philadelphia and the several counties shall be respectively entitled to elect the same number of representatives as is now prescribed by law.

7. That the first senate shall consist of eighteen members, to be chosen in districts, formed as follows, to wit: The city of Philadelphia and the counties of Philadelphia and Delaware shall be a district, and elect three senators: the county of Chester shall be a district, and shall elect one senator: the county of Bucks shall be a district, and shall elect one senator: the county of Montgomery shall be a district, and shall elect one senator: the county of Northampton shall be a district, and shall elect one senator: the counties of Lancaster and York shall be a district, and shall elect three senators: the counties of Berks and Dauphin shall be a district, and shall elect two senators: the counties of Cumberland and Mifflin shall be a district, and shall elect one senator: the counties of Northumberland, Luzerne, and Huntingdon, shall be a district, and shall elect one senator: the counties of Bedford and Franklin shall be a district, and shall elect one senator: the counties of Westmoreland and Alleghany shall be a district, and shall elect one senator: and the counties of Washington and Fayette shall be a district, and shall elect two senators: which senators shall serve until the first enumeration before mentioned shall be made, and the representation in both houses of the legislature shall be established by law, and chosen as in the constitution is directed. Any vacancies which shall happen in the senate, within the said time, shall be supplied as prescribed in the nineteenth section of the first article.

8. That the elections of senators shall be conducted, and the returns thereof made to the senate, in the same manner as is prescribed by the election laws of the state for conducting and making returns of the election of representatives. In those districts which consist of more than one county the judges of the district elections within each county, after having formed a return of the whole election within the county, in such manner as is directed by law, shall send the same, by one or more of their number, to the place hereinafter mentioned within the district, of which such county is a part, where the judges, so met, shall compare and cast up the several county returns, and execute, under their hands and seals, one general and true return for the whole district; that is to say, the judges of the district composed of the city of Philadelphia, and the counties of Philadelphia and Delaware, shall meet in the state house in the city of Philadelphia; the judges of the district composed of the counties of Lancaster and York, shall meet at the court house in the county of Lancaster; the judges of the district composed of the counties of Berks and Dauphin, shall meet at Middletown in the county of Berks; the judges of the district composed of the counties of Cumberland and Mifflin, shall meet in Greenwood township, county of Cumberland, at the house now occupied by David Miller; the judges of the district composed of the counties of Northumberland, Luzerne, and Huntingdon, shall meet in the town of Sunbury; the judges of the district composed of the counties of Bedford and Franklin, shall meet at the house now occupied by John Dickey, in Air township, Bedford county; the judges of the district com-

BAILEY'S
Washington Almanac,
FOR THE YEAR OF OUR LORD

1823,

Being the third after Bissextile, or Leap Year.

PHILADELPHIA:

PRINTED FOR ROBERT DESILVER.

No. 110, Walnut Street.

NOTES TO THE READER.

First.—The Astronomical calculations are made to solar, or apparent time; to which, add the equation, when the sun is slow, and subtract when fast, for the mean, or clock time.

Second.—The time of High Water, at Philadelphia, is so computed, as to serve for either morning or evening, (near enough for common use,) the morning flood being about 12 minutes earlier than the time in the tide column, and that of the evening as much later.

Third.—As the day ends at midnight, the rising, setting, and southing, of the Moon, after that time, is found against the succeeding day: so, on the night of (or following) the 5th day of January, the Moon rises at 2 h. 25 m. after midnight, viz. in the morning of the 6th, not at 1 h. 22 m. the time opposite the 5th, which is that of its rising the preceding morning.

Fourth.—The rising, setting, or southing, of a star, may be carried several days backward, by adding, or forward, by subtracting, 4 minutes per day:—for instance, on the 11th day of January, Sirius is south at 11 h. 5 m. adding 12 m. for three days sooner, we have 11 h. 17 m. for the southing on the 8th; and by deducting 8 m. for two days later, we have 10 h. 57 m. for the southing on the 13th of the same month, &c.

RATES OF POSTAGE.

For a Single Letter, composed of one piece of paper, and carried any distance not exceeding 36 miles, 8 cents; over 36, and not exceeding 80 miles, 10 cents; over 80, and not exceeding 150 miles, 12½ cents; over 150, and not exceeding 400 miles, 18½ cents; over 400 miles, 25 cents.—Double Letters, or those composed of two pieces of paper, are charged with double those rates—Triple Letters, with triple those rates—Quadruple Letters, with quadruple those rates, provided they weigh one ounce; otherwise, with triple postage.—Every Packet, composed of four or more pieces of paper, and weighing one ounce, or more, is to be charged with single postage for each quarter of an ounce; except letters conveyed by water mails, which are not to be charged with more than quadruple postage, unless the packets actually contain more than four distinct letters.

Newspapers.—Each paper, carried not over 100 miles, 1 cent; over 100 miles, 1½ cent. But if carried to any Post Office in the state in which it is printed, whatever may be the distance, the rate is 1 cent.

Magazines and Pamphlets are rated by the sheet; and carried not over 50 miles, per sheet, 1 cent; over 50, and not exceeding 100 miles, 1½ cent; any greater distance, 2 cents.—Every 4 folio, 8 quarto, or 16 octavo, or lesser pages, to be considered a sheet: also, the surplus pages beyond even fours, &c.

THE ANATOMY OF MAN'S BODY,

THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

THE following enumeration of the numbers of the different sects of Christianity, together with the expenses of their respective establishments, and other particulars, is extracted from a recent English publication. For the convenience of the American reader, the sums are rendered into Federal money.

In FRANCE, the number of the hearers of the Word, is given at 30,000,000: about 29 millions of Catholics, and 1 million of Protestants. There are 25,895 Catholic, and 357 Protestant, places of worship. The number of Catholic clergymen is 35,286; and 357 Protestants, of whom 183 are Calvinists, and 174 Lutherans. The average annual expense is $4,662,000, equal to $155,400 per million of hearers. This estimate is for the year 1821; and exhibits an annual saving to the nation, when compared with the ecclesiastical establishment previous to the Revolution, of upwards of $30,000,000.

The Church or Kirk of SCOTLAND is estimated to have 1,500,000 hearers, who have 1,000 places of worship, with each one clergyman. The income of the Kirk is given at $916,000, equal to $611,000 per million of hearers. No clergyman can have less than 150*l.* a-year, and they average more, besides a dwelling-house and a glebe of land.

The Church of SPAIN numbers 11,000,000 hearers, all Roman Catholics, who have 11,000 places of worship, and 16,552 clergymen, whose annual income is $5,000,000, which averages $444,000 for every million of hearers. The present church establishment was organized by a decree of the Cortes, of October 24, 1821. The annual saving to the nation, by the new establishment, is $44,500,000.

The Church of PORTUGAL has 3,000,000 hearers, all Roman Catholics: there are 3,000 places of worship, and 4,465 clergymen. The annual income of the Church is $1,332,000, equal to $444,000 for every million of hearers. This is the new establishment: it resembles that of Spain, and the saving is probably as great as in that country.

The Latin Catholic Church in HUNGARY has about 4,000,000 of hearers; 3,230 places of worship; and 5,469 clergymen, whose annual income is $1,420,000, equal to $355,000 per million of hearers. The Calvinistic Church in Hungary contains 1,050,000 hearers; 1,351 places of worship; and 1,384 clergymen, whose annual income is $273,700, equal to $260,000 per million of hearers. The Lutheran Church in Hungary has 650,000 hearers; 448 places of worship; and 456 clergymen, whose annual income is $115,000, equal to $177,000 per million of hearers.

It thus appears, that the clergymen receive, on an average per million of hearers—

In these UNITED STATES, the hearers are said to be 9,600,000; places of worship, 8,000; clergymen, 8,000; and annual income, $2,557,000, equal to $266,000 per million of people.

The Church of ITALY has 19,391,200 hearers, all Roman Catholics; 16,170 places of worship; 20,400 clergymen; with an annual income of $3,440,000, equal to $180,000 per million of hearers.

In AUSTRIA, there are 18,918,800 hearers; 15,800 places of worship; and 19,000 clergymen, whose annual income is $4,218,000, equal to $222,000 per million.

SWITZERLAND numbers 1,720,000 hearers, about two-thirds of whom are Calvinists, and one-third Catholics; 1,430 places of worship; and 1700 clergymen, with an annual income of $386,000, equal to $223,000 per million of hearers.

In PRUSSIA, there are 10,536,571 hearers; 8,100 places of worship; and 9,578 clergymen, whose annual income is $2,340,000, equal to $223,000 per million of hearers. Of these, there are 6,064,379 Lutherans, 4,023,518 Catholics, 300,101 Reformed or Calvinistic, 127,345 Jews, 21,233 Menonites, &c. &c.

The GERMAN STATES, exclusive of Austria and Prussia, have 12,763,500 hearers; 9,800 places of worship; 11,600 clergymen, with an annual income of $3,410,000, equal to $266,000 per million of people.

The Kingdom of the NETHERLANDS has 5,000,000 hearers, of whom 3,500,000 are Catholics, 1,000,000 Calvinists, and 500,000 of other sects. They have 3,840 places of worship, and 4,540 clergymen, with an annual income of $1,180,000, being at the rate of $355,000 per million, for two millions of Dutch; and $155,000 per million, for three millions of Flemish.

In DENMARK, the hearers amount to 1,700,000, all Lutherans, who have 1,300 places of worship, and 1,586 clergymen, with an annual income of $528,000, at the rate of $310,000 per million of hearers.

In SWEDEN and NORWAY, there are 3,400,000 hearers, 2,620 places of worship, and 3,100 clergymen, whose income is $1,056,000, at the rate of $310,000 per million of hearers.

In the RUSSIAN EMPIRE, the hearers are 42,000,000, of whom there are of the Greek Church 34,000,000, Catholics 5,500,000, and Lutherans 2,500,000; having 24,500 places of worship, and 74,270 clergymen, whose yearly income is $4,000,000, apportioned as follows:—$4,000,000 Greek Church, $2,240,000, at the rate of $66,600 per million of hearers; and 8,000,000 Catholics and Lutherans, $1,760,000, at the rate of $220,000 per million.

TURKEY contains 6,000,000 Christians of the Greek Church, who pay at the rate of $133,000 per million, equal to $800,000.

In SOUTH AMERICA, there are 15,000,000 hearers, who pay at the rate of $133,000 per million, from an annual income of $2,000,000.

In small Christian communities, dispersed over the world, it is believed there are 3,000,000 hearers, who pay at the rate of $220,000 per million, equal to $660,000.

ENGLAND and WALES have 6,000,000 hearers of the Church establishment—there are 11,743 places of worship, and 18,000 clergymen, whose annual income is estimated at $33,726,000, at the rate of $5,621,000 per million of hearers.

In IRELAND, it is assumed that there are not more than 400,000 hearers of the established Church; they have 740 places of worship, and 1,700 clergymen, whose annual income is $5,772,000, at the rate of $14,430,000 per million of hearers.

The people who are not hearers of the established Church, in England and Wales, are estimated at 6,000,000, with 8,000 places of worship, and 8,000 clergymen, who receive annually $2,264,000, at the rate of $377,000 per million. In Scotland, the hearers who do not belong to the Kirk are estimated at 500,000, with 333 places of worship, and 400 clergymen, whose yearly income is $200,000, at the rate of $400,000 per million. In Ireland, the hearers, not of the established Church, are calculated to be 6,600,000—viz. 5,500,000 Catholics, 800,000 Presbyterians, 300,000 Methodists and other sects; with 2,378 places of worship, and 2,378 clergymen, whose annual income is $1,173,500, equal to $177,000 per million of hearers.

From these and other facts, it appears, that in all the Christian world, except Great Britain, 198,728,000 people pay their clergy $39,303,000; while the establishment of England, Wales, and Ireland, with but 6,400,000 hearers, costs $39,500,000.

The following is an abstract of the estimated number of Christians in the world:—

Catholics, 124,672,000, pay to their clergy $27,106,000.

Protestants, 54,056,000, pay to their clergy 52,860,000.

Greek Ch. 41,500,000, pay to their clergy 3,374,000.

Total of Christians, 220,228,000, pay to their clergy $83,250,000, of which Great Britain and Ireland, with 21 millions of people, pay more than one-half.

The following exhibits the expense per thousand of the whole Christian world,—of the Catholic,—of the Protestant,—and of the Greek, Churches, respectively, for the maintenance of their clergy:—

FATHER AND SON.

Among the cases of suffering by the wreck, in 1686, of the vessel in which the Siamese embassy to Portugal was embarked, few have stronger claims to pity than that of the captain. He was a man of rank, sprung from one of the first families in Portugal; he was rich and honourable, and had long commanded a ship, in which he rendered great service to the king his master, and had given many marks of his valour and fidelity. The captain had carried his only son out to India along with him—he was a youth possessed of every amiable quality—well instructed for his years; gentle, docile, and most fondly attached to his father. The captain watched with the most intense anxiety over his safety; on the wreck of the ship, and during the march to the Cape, he caused him to be carried by his slaves. At length all the slaves having perished, or being so weak that they could not drag themselves along, this poor youth was obliged to trust to his own strength; but became so reduced and feeble, that, having laid him down to rest on a rock, he was unable to rise again. His limbs were stiff and swollen, and he lay stretched at length, unable to bend a joint. The sight struck like a dagger to his father's heart; he tried repeatedly to recover him, and by assisting him to advance a few steps, supposed that the numbness might be removed; but his limbs refused to serve him, he was only dragged along, and those whose aid his father implored, seeing they could do no more, frankly declared, that if they carried him, they must themselves perish.

The unfortunate captain was driven to despair. Lifting his son on his shoulders, he tried to carry him; he could make but a single step, when he fell to the ground with his son, who seemed more distressed with his father's grief, than with his own sufferings. The heroic boy besought him to leave him to die; the sight, he said, of his father's tears and affliction, was infinitely more severe than the bodily pain he endured. These words, far from inducing the captain to depart, melted him more and more, until he at last resolved to die with his son. The youth, astonished at his father's determination, and satisfied that his persuasions were unavailing, entreated the Portuguese, in the most impressive manner, to carry away his father.

Two priests, who were of the party, endeavoured to represent to the captain the sinfulness of persisting in his resolution; but the Portuguese were obliged, finally, to carry him away by force, after having removed his son a little apart. So cruel, however, was the separation, that the captain never recovered it. The violence of his grief was unabating; and he actually died of a broken heart, one or two days after reaching the Cape.

Advantage of Time.—A merry but poor man being laughed at for wearing a short cloak, said, “It will be long enough before I have done with it.”

MISCELLANEOUS EXTRACTS.

When your child plies you with questions, do not discourage him; for curiosity, well turned, is the mainspring of knowledge; he will probably ask more than you have skill to answer; if this be the case, acknowledge it honestly, and do not save your own credit, by chiding or laughing at him for his impertinence; if the thing be above his comprehension, or not proper to be known, or too trifling to deserve pains, show him that calmly; if none of these obstacles interfere, explain the matter clearly to his capacity, or, which is better, where it can be done, follow Socrates’ method, by leading him dexterously to find out the proper answer for himself.—Tucker.

Numerous reasons render it necessary to grant rest and recreation to children; as, first, the care of their health, which should be preferred to that of knowledge; and, to this, nothing is more prejudicial than too long and too constant application; for these insensibly wear and weaken the organs, which in that age are very tender, and incapable of great exertions. And this gives me an opportunity of advising and entreating parents not to use their children too much to study in their early years, but to deny themselves the pleasure of seeing them make a figure too soon. For, besides that such early fruits seldom come to maturity, nothing is more pernicious to the health of children, than these untimely efforts, though their bad effects be not immediately perceived.

If they are prejudicial to the body, they are no less dangerous to the mind, which exhausts itself, and grows dull, by a continual application; and, like the earth, stands in need of alternate intervals of labour and rest, to preserve its force and vigour.—Rollin.

Children, who are very fond of telling stories, become adepts in the arts of invention and exaggeration; in which species of falsehood they are too often encouraged, and even applauded. Thus, the principles of veracity daily grow weaker and weaker, habits of falsehood are acquired, and the story-teller, who first lies only to amuse, at length repeats the transgression whenever it may serve his turn. Let not a blind parental partiality, then, or the pleasure of seeing our pupils admired for their wit and invention, lead us to neglect our duty on this subject. Let us carefully watch every intentional deviation from a strict veracity, and check the rising vanity by a severe reprehension.—Ma-caulay.

Parents must utterly avoid all distinction of favourites among their children; for their partiality, if shown, it is more than probable would greatly injure, or even undo, a whole family. The darling is liable to be ruined through indulgence; the rest, through neglect and ignorance. Children, by this unequal treatment, conceive a hatred to one another, and often to the parents themselves, which, perhaps, lasts as long as their lives. But, besides that this injurious treatment debases their minds, it is productive of many evils; from hence proceed, not only inveterate malice, but confusion, lawsuits, and poverty; and hence, too, proceed rash, precipitate, and disgraceful marriages; with many other calamities, which it would require a volume to enumerate.

Another indispensable duty of parents to their children is, to teach them never to dare to sport with the natural defects of others.—But the defects of the body are not alone the subject of our ridicule, we sport, too, with those of the mind. Providence, for wise reasons, does not give to all alike; are we therefore to hold another in contempt, for not knowing so much as ourselves? Are we to laugh at a man, for not knowing what he had no opportunity to learn? no, surely. A neglect to improve, and the abuse of, natural talents, are the only things that deserve the scourge; and even here, it often happens, that he who exercises the rod, deserves it more than he who feels it.—Nelson.

It is a wise rule, but seldom sufficiently observed and practised, to spend where discretion bids thee spend, and to spare where discretion bids thee spare.

A MELANCHOLY MAN,

Is one that keeps the worst company in the world, that is, his own; and though he be always falling out and quarrelling with himself, yet he has not power to endure any other conversation. His head is haunted, like a house, with evil spirits and apparitions, that terrify and frighten him out of himself, till he stands empty and forsaken. His sleeps and his wakings are so much the same, that he knows not how to distinguish them, and many times, when he dreams, he believes he is broad awake, and sees visions. The fumes and vapours that rise from his spleen and hypochondries have so smutched and sullied his brain, (like a room that smokes) that his understanding is blear ey'd, and has no right perception of any thing. His soul lives in his body, like a mole in the earth, that labours in the dark, and casts up doubts and scruples of his own imaginations to make that rugged and uneasy, that was plain and open before. His brain is so cracked, that he fancies himself to be glass, and is afraid that every thing he comes near should break him in pieces. Whatsoever makes an impression on his imagination, works itself in like a screw, and the more he turns and winds it, the deeper it sticks, till it is never to be got out again. The temper of his brain being earthy, cold, and dry, is apt to breed worms, that sink so deep into it, no medicine in art or nature is able to reach them. He leads his life as one leads a dog in a slip, that will not follow, but is dragged along until he is almost hanged, as he has it often under consideration to treat himself in convenient time and place, if he can but catch himself alone. After a long and mortal feud between his inward and his outward man, they at length agree to meet without seconds, and decide the quarrel, in which the one drops, and the other slinks out of the way, and makes his escape into some foreign world, from whence it is never after heard of. He converses with nothing so much as his own imagination, which, being apt to misrepresent things to him, makes him believe that it is something else than it is, and that he holds intelligence with spirits, that reveal whatsoever he fancies to him, as the ancient rude people, that first heard their own voices repeated by echoes in the woods, concluded it must proceed from some invisible inhabitants of those solitary places, which they afterwards believed to be gods, and called them Sylvens, Fauns, and Dryads. He makes the infirmity of his temper pass for revelations, as Mahomet did by his falling sickness, and inspires himself with the wind of his own hypocondries. He laments, like Heraclitus, the maudlin philosopher, at other men's mirth, and takes pleasure in nothing but his own unsober sadness. His mind is full of thoughts, but they are all empty, like a nest of boxes. He sleeps little, but dreams much, and most when he is waking. He sees visions further off than a second-sighted man in Scotland, and dreams upon a hard point with admirable judgment. He is just so much worse than a madman, as he is below him in a degree of frenzy; for, among madmen, the most mad govern all the rest, and receive a natural obedience from their inferiors.

CUT WORMS OR GRUBS.

Some years ago a Frenchman arrived in this country, who advertised a specific for killing bugs. All the old women, and young ones too, who were pestered with bugs, flew to him and purchased his murdering potion.

The Frenchman filled his pockets with money, and lived in clover. But a short time, however, had elapsed, when his customers returned, and declared unanimously, that these bugs were as troublesome as ever. "It is impossible," exclaimed the Frenchman, "there must be some mistake. How do you use this mixture?" "Why we pour it in the joints of the bedstead, and wash every part of it." "Pho, pho, that will never do; you must catch the bugs, and pour it down their throats, and it cannot fail. I have tried it a thousand times."

Several articles which I have lately read in the papers on the subject of Grubs, have recalled to my memory the bug-killing Frenchman.

One paper recommends a strong solution of nitre, or saltpetre, to be poured round the mound of corn, declaring that the grub will come to the surface, and then all you have to do is to walk over your fields and kill them!!! If this does not equal the Frenchman, I am mistaken.

Another recommends a solution of tobacco to be used in the same way, and reasons that it must answer because the grub never injures the tobacco plant! I have seen it tried, and it has no more effect than pouring so much water on the mounds. They leave their holes to be sure, but return to them again in a short time, and to conclude, the water of boiled potatoes is declared to be infallible. Mirabile dictu!

The interest of agriculture is the dearest of our country, and every attempt to improve or render it more perfect is praise-worthy. But the recommendation of such means as have been just mentioned, are calculated to do much injury: experiments should be fairly made, and facts ascertained, before the farmers, generally, should be led into expense. Several farmers, in my neighbourhood, have wasted their money and time in trying the saltpetre and tobacco solutions, but all to no purpose. They have thrown them aside, in the belief that those who recommend them were either knaves or fools.

RECIPE.

Consumption—Completely to eradicate this disorder, I will not positively say the following remedy is capable of doing, but I will venture to affirm, that by a temperate mode of living, avoiding spirituous liquors wholly, wearing flannel next the skin, and taking every morning half a pint of new milk, mixed with the expressed juice of green hoarhound, the complaint will not only be relieved, but the individual shall procure to himself a length of days beyond what the mildest fever could give room to hope for.

I am, myself, a living witness of the beneficial effects of this agreeable, and though innocent, yet powerful application. Four weeks' use of the hoarhound and milk relieved the pains of my breast, gave me to breathe deep, long, and free; strengthened and harmonized my voice; and restored me to a better state of health than I had enjoyed for many years.

SHEEP.

As our manufactures are so rapidly increasing, great quantities of wool will be wanting. This will be encouragement for our farmers, to raise and keep as many sheep as possible, inasmuch as the wool will always command a high price in cash.

Mr. Hammond, in the state of Ohio, one of the most wealthy and extensive farmers, raises and keeps a numerous flock of sheep, and supplies the Steubenville Manufactory with wool. In a letter lately published in the Ohio papers, and in those of Philadelphia also, he says, that with 100 large sheep, he makes more profit than with 100 acres of wheat, and does not give the tenth part of the trouble. He mentions further, that he prevents the rot getting among them by giving salt three or four times a week. This keeps them, as well as every other domestic animal, perfectly healthy.

In the state of New Jersey, the farmers begin to keep very large flocks of sheep, and feed them at the distilleries, from the same offals with which the hogs, oxen, and other animals, are fed. As this is something new, and but lately brought into practice, it creates some surprise. But, let me ask,—why not feed sheep with the same provender as other domestic animals? Some people prefer the milk and butter of cows fed from distilleries.

The writer of this has had conversation with numbers of persons, who are well acquainted with, and have often witnessed, the above mode of feeding sheep, and they positively assert, that the meat has a more delicious taste, and the wool is finer, longer, and softer, than when the sheep are fed in the old way.

N. B. The sheep must not be penned up as hogs are; it will be necessary to let them range into the fields when so inclined, and occasionally put to hay. Turnips are excellent food for sheep.

An easy and certain cure for the Rheumatism.

Take as much Oil Skin, (silk oil cloth,) as will cover the part, and wrapt it tight round, if the legs or arms be affected. If the head or shoulders are the seat of the disease, have a tight cap made for the head; or a piece stitched inside of a flannel shirt, or under garments, for the shoulders, or any other part of the body, will answer the purpose.

Lambs.—Bleeding is recommended as the best mode of preserving the health of lambs, in autumn, or when slight frosts commence,—the operation is to be performed by piercing the nostril with a pen-knife.

John Kilburn, a person well known on the turf as a list seller, &c. being at a town in Bedfordshire, and according to a turf phrase, quite broke down; it was in harvest time, the week before Richmond races, near which place he was born, and to arrive there in time, he hit on the following expedient;—He applied to a blacksmith of his acquaintance to stamp on a padlock the words “Richmond Gaol,” which, with the chain, was fixed to one of his legs, and he composedly went into a corn field to sleep. As he expected, he was soon apprehended and taken before a Magistrate, who, after some deliberation, ordered two constables to guard him in a carriage to Richmond, no time being to be lost. Kilburn saying he had not been tried, and hoping they would not let him be till another assize. The constables, on their arrival at the gaol, accosted the keeper with —“Sir, do you know this man?” “Yes, very well: it is Kilburn; I have known him many years.” “We suppose that he has broken out of your gaol, as he has a chain and padlock on with your mark?” “A prisoner! I never heard any harm of him in my life.” “Nor,” says Kilburn, “have these gentlemen, Sir. They have been so good as to bring me out of Bedfordshire, and I will not give them any further trouble. I have got the key of the padlock, and I’ll not trouble them to unlock it; I thank them for their good usage.” The distance he thus travelled was about one hundred and seventy miles.

The Importance of Punctuality.

Method is the very hinge of business; and there is no method without Punctuality. Punctuality is important, because it subserves the peace and good temper of a family: the want of it not only infringes on necessary duty, but sometimes excludes this duty. The calmness of mind which it produces, is another advantage of Punctuality: a disorderly man is always in a hurry: he has no time to speak to you, because he is going elsewhere; and when he gets there, he is too late for his business; or he must hurry away to another before he can finish it. Punctuality gives weight to character: “Such a man has made an appointment; then I know he will keep it.” And this produces Punctuality in you; for, like other virtues, it propagates itself. Servants and children must be punctual, where their leader is so. Appointments, indeed, become debts. I owe you Punctuality, if I have made an appointment with you; and have no right to throw away your time, if I do my own.

The Biter Bit.—A member of one of the learned professions was driving his jennet along the road at Tooting in Surrey, when he overtook a pedlar with his pack, and inquired what he had to sell. The man produced, among other things, a pair of cotton braces; the price, he said, was sixpence. The gentleman paid the money; and then said, "You have, I suppose, a license." "Yes," was the reply, hesitatingly. "I should like to see it." After some further delay, it was produced. "My good fellow, all's right, I see. Now, as I do not want these things, you may have them again for three-pence." The bargain was struck: but how surprised was the querist to find a summons to attend the Country Magistracy sitting at Croydon. The gentleman was convicted in the full penalty, for selling goods on the king's highway without a hawker's license. He is a lawyer.

A Parson's Dread.—In a storm at sea, the chaplain asked one of the crew, if he thought there was any danger? "O yes," replied the sailor; "if it blows as hard as it does now, we shall all be in Heaven before twelve o'clock at night." The chaplain, terrified at the expression, cried out, "The Lord forbid!"

The harmless Threat.—An obscure physician, quarrelling with a neighbour, swore in a great rage, that some time or other he would be the death of him. "No, doctor," replied the other, "for I shall never send for you."

Matrimonial Concord.—"I wonder," says a woman of humour, "why my husband and I quarrel so often, for we agree uniformly in one grand point: he wishes to be master, and so do I."

Powerful Preacher.—A certain reverend drone preaching a very dull sermon to a congregation not used to him, many of them slunk out of the church one after another, before the sermon was ended. "Truly," said a gentleman present, "this learned doctor has made a very moving discourse."

A First Appearance.—The late Duke of Norfolk was much addicted to the bottle. On a masquerade night, he asked Foote, what new character he should appear in. "Suppose you go sober, my lord," replied Foote.

A Commission.—A felon, who was just on the point of being turned off, asked the hangman, if he had any message to send to the place where he was going? “I will trouble you with a line,” replied the finisher of the law, placing the cord under his left ear.

Hat and Wig.—A fellow, walking down Holborn-hill, on a sultry summer evening, observed an old gentleman, without his hat, panting and leaning upon a post, and very courteously asked him what was the matter? “Sir,” says the old man, “an impudent rascal has just snatched my hat off, and ran away with it; I have run after him until I have quite lost my breath, and cannot, if my life depended on it, go a step farther.”—“What, not a step,” says the fellow. “Not a step,” returned he. “Why, then, by Jupiter, I must have your wig,” and, snatching off his fine flowing caxon, the thief was out of sight in a minute.

A Deficiency of Evidence.—A son of Galen, who was very angry when any joke was passed on physicians, once defended himself from raillery, by saying, “I defy any person whom I ever attended, to accuse me of ignorance or neglect.”—“That you may safely do,” replied the wag; “for you know, doctor, dead men tell no tales.”

Difference of Opinion.—A lunatic in Bedlam was asked how he came there. He answered, “By a dispute.”—“What dispute?”—“Why, I said the world was mad—while they said that I was mad; but they being the strongest, outvoted me, and I was sent here.”

Plebeian Pleasantry.—An Abbé who was very fat, approaching a fortified city late in the evening, and apprehensive that the gate might be closed for the night, inquired of a countryman whom he met coming from the town, if he could get in at the gate? “I believe so,” said the peasant, looking at him jocosely, “for I saw a wagon of hay go in there this morning.”

Upper Stories.—Lord Verulam, being asked by James I. what he thought of Mr. Cadares, a very tall man, who was sent on an occasional embassy to the monarch of France, answered, that “some tall men were like lofty houses, where the upper rooms are commonly the most meanly furnished.”

A Looking-Glass.—A spark being brought before a magistrate, on a charge of horse-stealing, the justice, the moment he saw him, exclaimed, "I see the villain in your countenance." "It is the first time," said the prisoner, very coolly, "that I knew my countenance was a looking-glass."

Resemblance and Representation.—A prince, rallying the fatness of a courtier who had served in many embassies, said he looked like an ox. "I know not," said the courtier, "what I am like; but I know that I have often had the honour to represent your majesty."

Punctilios of Honour.—Two Gascon officers disputing on some particular subject, one of them unhandsomely contradicted the other, by saying, "That's not true." The asserter of the fact instantly replied, "You are very bold, Sir, to dare to give me the lie: if I were a little nearer to you, I would box your ears, to teach you better manners; and you may consider the blow as already given." "And I, Sir," rejoined the other, "to punish you for your insolence, would run you through the body; so consider yourself dead."

Transparency.—Dignum and Jack Barrow sitting together in a room that was rather dark, Dignum, being next the window, prevented the light from having free access to his companion; upon which Barrow called out, "Upon my soul, Dignum, I cannot see through your jaws." "I do not wonder at that," said Dignum, "for mine are not lanthorn jaws."

The doctor of admiral Onslow's ship was remarkable for prescribing sea-water on all occasions for the complaints of the crew; and returning lately with the admiral and some of the officers from Yarmouth, where they had been to dinner, the doctor, being quite groggy, fell off the jetty-head into the sea; when one of the crew standing by, and ever mindful of the doctor's regimen, instantly exclaimed to the admiral, "Your honour, shiver my timbers, if our doctor ha'n't tumbled into his own medicine chest."

Mr. R. walking along the earthen mound at Edinburgh, some years ago, when the price of bread was excessively high, observed a basket of loaves fall off a baker's head. "I am glad," remarked Mr. R. "that bread has fallen."
